Revival of Pony Express Run to Hail Completion of Coast-to-Coast Highway

Denver, June 7.—(INS)—The historic and famous pony express that contributed much toward the early development of the west and which will be revived for a day to celebrate the completion of the coast-to-coast highway.

The pony express run will be made between Topeka, Kan., and Denver, and will be run exactly as it was 75 years ago when riders carried express and mail from St. Louis, St. Joseph, Topeka and other points to Colorado and San Francisco.

The celebration of the completion of the highway which connects Atlantic city with San Francisco will take place July 3 on top of Bearfoot Pass, about 50 miles west of Denver.

This pass represents the highest spot—11,315 above sea level—between the two terminal points on the coast-to-coast route.

To start from Topeka

Pony riders will start from Topeka, Kan., at 10 a. m. and will be met by the governor of Kansas to Colorado's chief executive and end at the capital in Denver the morning of July 2.

P. H. Hawley, of Cheyenne, Wyo., who directed the U. S. 40 Highway association of Kansas, estimated the pony run will take two days and nights with a change of riders and mounts every ten miles. Hawley told Henry Huffman, president of the Denver Tourist and Convention bureau which is sponsoring the celebration that his association will furnish riders and mounts for the revival of the pony express. He said a prize would be offered the rider making the fastest time between laps.

Town committees on the route of the pony express will take charge of their respective links of the ride selecting horses and mail from St. Louis, St. Joseph, Topeka and other points to Colorado and San Francisco.

The arrival of the last lap rider at the state capital here will signal the start of an old time parade of stage coaches, burros, phantoms and other pioneer business of the city.

The following day the celebration stop Bearfoot Pass will take place with mayors and governors of states through which U. S. Highway 40 passes in attendance. The guests will be invited to stay over July 4 to witness the annual sky jumping and racing events to be held at St. Mary's glacier, near the top of the pass.

It is to be a gala celebration and it was fostered with the pioneer spirit of the early day pony express riders who delivered the "goods" over the tortuous early-day routes from the east to the west coast.

Stock highways now being completed.

Chicago Holds Annual Outdoor Art Exposition

Chicago, June 7.—(INS)—Painters, sculptors and potteries will be on hand to interpret art picture which might be beyond the comprehension of a layman. With the benefit of museum, the Outdoor Artists association annually attempts to make Chicago art conscious by their open air exposition along a block of wall on the south bank of the river on Wacker drive.

According to Joseph Zaluski, president of the association, some 1,000 to 1,500 pictures are exhibited. They range in price from 50 cents per picture to $400.

"There are only a few in the latter class," said Zaluski. "We just stand here during the day and hope that we have done during the year and hope that some of the people who come along will buy one."

About 45 exhibitors were in the show, said Miss Gertrude Koblitz, secretary.

"We aren't trying to make another Paris of Chicago. We are artists who are trying to paint modern America, and who are trying to sell what we do once a year."

Keys Quadruplets Send Greetings to the Dionne Quins

Burlington, Vt., June 7.—(INS)—Being a technician in a museum doesn't sound like a busy job, but take a glimpse of Athol Copeland's Copeland is the technician for the Dionne Quintuplets at the University of Vermont and considers the following all in the day's work.

Building cabinets, picture hanging, movie-running, taking charge of the museum's coin collection ($1,200 pieces), "counselling" display cases, directing students, museum workers and he does general repair work in his spare time in addition to examining a coin collectors club in the state.

Halls, Okla., June 7.—(INS)—Among the thousands of letters picked up by special "letter service" planes during National Air Mail Week, one of the more interesting was from the Keys quadruplets to the Dionne quintuplets.

"The Dionne quintuplets, Emilie, Cecile, Annette, Yvonne, and Marie, are about to have another birthday. We would like to tell you how glad we are that you will be celebrating your first birthday. We are all very happy and healthy and are doing very well. We are one of a very few who really know how much fun you have together."

"Because this is National Air Mail Week, we are sending this by the first air mail to leave our town—Halls, Oklahoma."

"May you have many more happy birthdays, and may you be as happy as we have always been."

Sincerely,

Woman Justice of Peace Stons Thief With Rock

Pecher, Okla., June 7.—(INS)—When Mrs. Ethel Hackett, justice of the peace at Cardin, Okla., caught a thief, she used a rock to throw him out of her window.

A middle-aged man was detected shoplifting recently in a department store. Mrs. Hackett, whose office is directly across the street, saw him and gave chase.

The shoplifter leaped into a car parked up the street and sped away. Mrs. Hackett "thumbed" a ride and pursued him.

At the edge of town her quarry leaped from his car and started running across a zinc mine tailing pile.

Undaunted, Justice Hackett ed up a large rock and hurled it. The fleeing man was knocked unconscious. Upon regaining consciousness, he was charged with stealing two pairs of ladies' hose.

Jay-Walking Law Was Originated in Indianapolis

Indianapolis, Ind., June 7.—(INS)—The first law against jay-walking, originating in this city, is having its 25th anniversary celebrated this spring.

Away back in 1913 legislators realizing that pedestrians too frequently took erratic and unexpected courses as they crossed streets, were prompted to pass a law making it illegal to cross at any point in a street but at an intersection.

In this day an automobile crossing about 20 miles an hour was considered to be speeding, too, so the dangers of walking across a street so much greater, city officials pointed out.

Some legends have ascribed to their first which enable them to walk on the ceiling or on a window pane.

Honorary Degree to be Conferred on Big War Ace

Chester, Pa., June 7.—(INS)—Degrees of doctor of aeronautical science and doctor of naval science will be conferred on Rickenbacker and Admiral Clavicus respectively.

Rickenbacker has won world-wide fame as an automobile racing driver, air line executive. During the world war he shot down 22 German planes and four balloons in six months.

Clavicus saw action in both the Spanish-American and world war. He is believed to be the lone survivor of the explosion that wrecked the USS Arizona, which he was a junior officer.

Offers Automatic 'Thumber' as Aid to Hitch-hikers

Topeka, Kan., June 7.—(INS)—Hitch-hikers take note!

Whitman's Official Auto College student has solved a week-end transportation problem with an automatic "thumber."

The ingenious device consists of a car on which is mounted a steel spring attached to a closed hand with thumb extended. Made out of a piece of tin foil making it flexible, it is attached to the car.

Before constructing the "thumber," it was difficult to secure a fine foil spring and in a good many cases he was left stranded and forced to spend the night in a hotel.

But the "thumber" has changed all that. Motorsists gladly give him a lift and in several instances go out of their way to help him reach his destination.

American Indian Lives Colorful Life as of Old

Berkeley, Cal., June 7.—(INS)—The Voths, American Indians, have been living in the same way of life for centuries.

The American Indian despite the information of the automobile and the telephone and the radio is going right on living pretty much as he did in the days of his ancestors. He is a hundred years ago.

Dr. Philip Drucker, anthropologist, who has lived among the Indians for many years, says that the Indians are still living in the same way of life as of old.

Italy Has Been Able to Test Both Its Men and Materials

Rome, June 7.—(INS)—Experience bought with blood in Spanish wars, on the shell-ripped terrain of Aragon and Catalonia and in jungle and desert of Abyssinia puts a toolset into Benito Mussolini's argument Italy is ready to meet the acid test of war.

Spain has been Italy's laboratory to test men and machines of war. The lessons learned there added to the knowledge of organized slaughter absorbed in Ethiopia, are formidable factors in compiling an accurate estimate of Italian military power.

When general staff officers of the United States, Britain and France and most of the other nations of the world played the national maneuvers, Italian generals sent live men hurrying into battle.

Faced Actual War Problems

Tactical problems involving something more than a mythical victory over mythical enemies. Fighting developed not according to plans and mathematical calculations of the staff, but according to the actual conditions of the battlefield, at short-legged field tables, but encompassed life and death struggle. There was nothing mythical about bombs and bullets in Spain and Abyssinia.

Ethiopia gave Italian artillery the best possible workout, brought the technique of mass artillery attack, according to neutral observers, to a new fine point.

Experience, aside from actual test of war machinery, helped develop general staff officers, it case-hardened troops.

The names on the Italian roster of generals make an enviable list.

Much Maligned 'Swing' Called War Antidote

Hollywood, Cal., June 7.—(INS)—You can imagine a steel-helmeted regiment of troops "trucking" down to war?

Or a bayonet drill to the syncopated strains of "The Big Apple"?

Obviously the answer is "NO!"

Which is the basis for the startling statement by Orchestra Leader Ben Pollack, that the much maligned "swing" music is an antidote for war.

Pollack, the musical maestro, announced that he will play swing for his listeners because it is the musical relief to war fever and to the repression of war.

"Swing" is a happy, dance-producing music, Pollack declared. "It is an expression of the exuberance of youth. It contains the elements of cheerfulness and humor and it is a relief to the stress of war."

"War lords have always used martial music to stir people into a war-like frenzy."

"I say let's have more of the 'Daggy Doodle' and a little less of 'Yankee Doodle'!"

Negro Confesses He Committed Crime Years Ago

GETS RELIGION

Chicago, June 7—(UP)—Robert Nixon, 18-year-old Negro who has confessed that he killed four women and a girl during the last two years, today admitted a crime five years old in the state penitentiary. Including a new confession of assaults on two women in a Chicago hotel, Nixon so far has admitted attack-slayings of three Chicago women and a mother and her daughter in Los Angeles, 17 assaults and innumerable thefts.

"I got religion," he said. "I just want to clear things up."

His latest confession concerned attacks of Miss Ada Deery, a former vaudeville singer, Sept. 26, 1933, and of Miss Virginia Austin, doll designer for the Fleischaker and Baum company of New York, on Aug. 15, 1935. Admission of the Austin crime surprised police for the convicted man signed a confession. He is Thomas McCall, 39, an engraver who lived in the hotel where the attacks occurred. He is now in the penitentiary at Joliet, Ill.

Forced Confession

He was arrested nearly a year after the crime when a woman resident of the hotel reported she had seen him on the fire escape outside her room. He was found guilty Dec. 14 of assault in the Austin case. During his trial he insisted police had forced him to sign the confession. Miss Austin did not identify him as her attacker.

Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan said he believed Nixon had told the truth and that every effort will be made to verify the confession and obtain freedom for McCall.

Nixon was seated in his cell last night, reading the bible, the 28th chapter of Matthew about "eternal life"—when he called out to a guard.

"Let me talk to Storms," he said. "I got something to tell him."

Deputy Chief of Detectives Walter Storms ordered Nixon brought to his office and summoned newspapermen.

"Nixon's been reading the bible again," he said. "I'll probably have a new statement for you."

Nixon walked in, munching an ice cream cone.

"You know, chief," he said, "a man was sent to the penitentiary for an attack I done—that Austin case."

"Innocent Man in Pen"

"I climbed the fire escape, hit her with a brick and left the same way. I don't like to see an innocent man go to the penitentiary. Anyway I've sent a man to jail that hasn't done anything."

Then he voluntarily told of the attack on Miss Deery. He bludgeoned her with a brick, knotted one of her stockings around her neck, and started a fire in a closet. She was found by a neighbor, who stamped out the fire and took her to a hospital.

"I thought she was dead," Nixon said.

Storms was doubtful. Nixon picked up a piece of yellow paper and with the same technique with which he sketched floor plans of the homes of the women he had slain, began to draw in detail a plan of the entire hotel where Miss Deery and Miss Austin had lived. He even added a sketch of an adjoining garage which he had climbed to gain entrance to their rooms.

Storms was convinced. He said Nixon will be taken to the hotel today to reenact the crimes.

Assistant State's Attorney John Boyle said he would ask murder indictments against Nixon and Earl Hicks, his Negro accomplice in the slaying of Mrs. Florence Johnson, 35, the mother of two children. She was slain a week ago Friday in her bed.

Ecuador Charges Peru is Sending Troops to Border

Quito, Ecuador, June 7—(AP)—The foreign office of Ecuador charged today that Peru was reinforcing border garrisons with troops, bombing planes and gunboats despite promises to abstain from force in the two nations' dispute over the oriente jungle territory east of the Andes.

A foreign office statement said Peru had sent five bombers to reinforce her garrison at Pantoja near Rocafuerte on the Napo river and had concentrated provincial troops near the Ecuadorian boundary at Tumbes near the Pacific coast.

Three gunboats and 18 planes have arrived at Puerto Pizarro in this area, the statement said, and three regiments were in the zone between Tumbes and Guallana, to the south.

The foreign office said it was advised by Ecuadorian authorities at this boundary that Peru intended to occupy Matapolo Island at the entrance of the Gulf of Guayaquil, Ecuador's principal port, is situated on the gulf.

Complaining of this "new and unjustified provocation," Ecuador officials said there was no military garrison on the island and only "peace-loving inhabitants."

California Innovation of Serving Salad As A First Course Sweeping Country

Sacramento, Cal., June 7—(INS)—Salad as a first course, instead of following the heavy main dish—a custom started in California—is now shattering the hard-crusted eastern order of dishes and is enjoying a starting position in meals in that section of the country.

This was pointed out in a survey by Ross H. Gast, Pacific Coast authority on production and marketing.

Medical men and dieticians, Gast said, favor salads leading the parade to the table, because it means consumption of more healthful foods; to farmers it means heavier demands for their products.

Expressing confidence in the changing order of dishes in other parts of the United States, Gast, however, added:

It was near the Peruvian garrison post of Pantoja and the Ecuadorian garrison of Rocafuerte where Ecuador charged two of her soldiers were killed and another wounded in a clash June 2.

Meanwhile, General G. Alberto Enriquez, supreme chief of the republic, announced a completed cabinet to replace the ministry that resigned Friday in the midst of the crisis.

Takes Up Dry Point Etching at Age of 74

Penologists and Representatives Tour Joliet Pen

Joliet, Ill., June 7—(AP)—Sixty persons, many of them penologists and state representatives, toured the Joliet and Stateville prisons yesterday at the invitation of the Illinois department of public welfare, which is seeking ways to eliminate overcrowded conditions.

A. L. Bowen, department director, said recently that the Joliet prison was obsolete, unsanitary and unfit for further use as a penal institution. A new prison for Illinois is being considered.

At the present time repeaters and hardened convicts are kept at Joliet; first-time convicts more than 26 years old are held at the relatively new prison at Stateville while those less than 26 go to Pontiac reformatory.

Yesterday the total prison count was 6,015.

"In 1907 when I asked the legislature to provide for a possible population of 2,000, I was laughed at," said Senator Richard J. Barr, of Joliet, a member of the state senate for 35 years. "No one ever dreamed we would have over 6,000."

Among those who toured the two prisons, as well as the diagnostic depot where new prisoners are held and studied for several weeks, were Representative Raymond O'Keefe, chairman of the committee on public welfare, and three other members of the group: Representative Matt Franz, Mason Sullivan and Michael Hennigan; Jessie Binford of Chicago's Hull house; Prof. E. W. Burgess of the University of Chicago; parole board members Michael Howlett and Gty McCaughey; and Helen M. Hazard, warden of the woman's prison at Dwight.

Filibuster in Prospect Over Wage-Hour Bill

Washington, June 7—(AP)—Southern senators hinted today at a filibuster—delaying adjournment indefinitely—against any wage-hour bill which omits pay differentials.

They opposed some provisions of a compromise by which Senator Thomas (D-Utah) hoped to break a deadlock in the joint committee appointed to redraft the year-old legislation.

Predictions were general that the committee would accept Thomas' proposal, but leaders who would like to end the session Saturday expressed concern over a statement by Senator Ellender (D-La.):

"There will be full discussion in the senate."

The Thomas compromise provides, briefly, for immediate establishment of a minimum wage of 25 cents an hour, increasing to 30 cents in two years.

Southern members want exemptions from the 40-cent wage granted to some industries, because they contend living conditions in their region are lower and freight rates are discriminatory.

In the faint hope that a satisfactory wage-hour agreement could be reached and a long delay in adjournment avoided, congressional leaders hastened to get other legislation out of the way.

Chairman Adams (D-Colo.) called a senate appropriations subcommittee into session today to begin hearings on the final deficiency appropriation bill, still pending in the house.

The senate occupied itself with minor bills.
